
Elizabeth Randell

Your Signature Theme Report

SURVEY COMPLETION DATE: 02-20-2018

DON CLIFTON

Father of Strengths Psychology and Inventor of CliftonStrengths

Elizabeth Randell

SURVEY COMPLETION DATE: 02-20-2018

Many years of research conducted by The Gallup Organization suggest that the most effective people are those who understand their strengths and behaviors. These people are best able to develop strategies to meet and exceed the demands of their daily lives, their careers, and their families.

A review of the knowledge and skills you have acquired can provide a basic sense of your abilities, but an awareness and understanding of your natural talents will provide true insight into the core reasons behind your consistent successes.

Your Signature Themes report presents your five most dominant themes of talent, in the rank order revealed by your responses to StrengthsFinder. Of the 34 themes measured, these are your "top five."

Your Signature Themes are very important in maximizing the talents that lead to your successes. By focusing on your Signature Themes, separately and in combination, you can identify your talents, build them into strengths, and enjoy personal and career success through consistent, near-perfect performance.

Learner®

You love to learn. The subjects that interest you most will depend on your other themes and experiences, but you will always be drawn to learning. The process of learning, more than the content or the result, is especially exciting for you. The steady progression from ignorance to competence energizes you — the thrill of the first few facts, the early efforts to recite or practice what you have learned, the growing confidence of a skill mastered. You love to engage in new experiences. For example, exploring new activities or fields of study might energize you. You thrive in dynamic environments where you can learn a lot about a new subject in a short period of time and then move on. You do not necessarily want to become the subject matter expert or earn a professional or academic credential. For you, the outcome is less significant than the journey.

Analytical®

Your Analytical theme challenges other people: "Prove it. Show me why what you are claiming is true." You are a logical, objective and rigorous thinker. You trust data, numbers and facts because they have no agenda. Your mind understands them. So using data, you search for connections. You want to understand how certain patterns affect one another and how all the variables work together. Always looking for the truth, you peel the layers back until gradually, you reveal the root cause or causes. Others depend on your rigorous thinking to evaluate their ideas. With strong Analytical, you can be skeptical, and you will not be convinced until you see solid proof.

Deliberative®

You are a careful and vigilant person who approaches life with a certain reserve. You know that the world is an unpredictable place. Even when everything seems in order, beneath the surface, you sense many risks. Rather than ignoring these risks, you identify, assess and reduce each one. You like to plan ahead so you can anticipate what might go wrong. You select your friends cautiously and keep your opinions to yourself about personal matters. You are careful not to give too much praise and recognition. For you, life is not a popularity contest. While you might think others make decisions quickly and recklessly, you trust your naturally good judgment. You identify dangers, weigh their impact and move forward carefully.

Relator®

Relator describes how you develop and maintain relationships. As a Relator, you gravitate toward people you already know and trust. You do not necessarily shy away from meeting new people, but you do derive a great deal of pleasure and strength from being around your closest friends. For you, a relationship has value only if it is genuine. Once you make a meaningful connection with someone, you actively nurture the relationship to make it stronger and deeper. You want to understand the other person's feelings, their goals, their fears and their dreams, and you want them to understand yours. You know that this kind of closeness might make you vulnerable and put you at risk, but you are willing to take that risk. The more you share with each other, the more you risk together. The more you risk together, the more each of you proves you genuinely care.

Intellection®

You like to think. You like exercising the “muscles” of your brain, stretching them in multiple directions. Your need for mental activity may be focused. For example, you might be trying to solve a problem, develop an idea or understand another person's actions. Sometimes, you may think about practical matters such as the events of the day or a conversation you plan to have. The exact focus will depend on your other strengths. There might be times when your mental activity lacks focus. Intellection does not dictate what you think about, just that you like to think. You are introspective, and you enjoy time alone to reflect. You are your own best companion as you ask yourself questions and experiment with answers to see how they sound. This musing will always be a natural part of your life.

COPYRIGHT STANDARDS

This document contains proprietary research, copyrighted and trademarked materials of Gallup, Inc. Accordingly, international and domestic laws and penalties guaranteeing patent, copyright, trademark and trade secret protection safeguard the ideas, concepts and recommendations related within this document.

The materials contained in this document and/or the document itself may be downloaded and/or copied provided that all copies retain the copyright, trademark and any other proprietary notices contained on the materials and/or document. No changes may be made to this document without the express written permission of Gallup, Inc.

Any reference whatsoever to this document, in whole or in part, on any webpage must provide a link back to the original document in its entirety. Except as expressly provided herein, the transmission of this material shall not be construed to grant a license of any type under any patents, copyright or trademarks owned or controlled by Gallup, Inc.

Gallup®, CliftonStrengths®, Clifton StrengthsFinder®, StrengthsFinder® and each of the 34 strengths theme names are trademarks of Gallup, Inc. All rights reserved. All other trademarks and copyrights are the property of their respective owners.